Christmas in Deep Valley

Of all the holidays in the year, Christmas is featured the most prominently — and the most lovingly — in Maud Hart Lovelace’s Betsy-Tacy books. In the spirit of the season, we hope you will enjoy this collection of holiday excerpts from the books. Merry Christmas from Deep Valley!

...school closed for the Christmas vacation. That meant that Betsy, Tacy, and Tib had an important engagement. For years on the first day of Christmas vacation they had gone shopping together.

This year they invite Winona to join them, and an entire chapter in “Betsy and Tacy Go Downtown” is devoted to this Christmas shopping trip.

The streets were crowded with sleighs and cutters. Chiming bells added to the Christmassy feeling in the air. Front Street was very Christmassy. Evergreen boughs and holly wreaths, red bells and mistletoe sprays surrounded displays of tempting merchandise in all the store windows. In one window a life-sized Santa Claus with a brimming pack on his back was halfway into a paper-mâché chimney.

The girls each have a dime to spend. After shopping at Cook’s bookstore, the harness and saddle maker’s shop, the Lion Department store, and the jewelry store, they end up at the toy store.

There on a long table Christmas tree ornaments were set out for sale. There were boxes and boxes full of them, their colors mingling in bewildering iridescence. There were large fragile balls of vivid hues, there were gold and silver balls; there were tinsel angels, shining harps and trumpets, gleaming stars.

"Nothing," Tacy tried to explain, “is so much like Christmas as a Christmas-tree ornament."

“You get a lot for ten cents,” said Tib.

They gave themselves then with abandon to the sweet delight of choosing. It was almost pain to choose. Each fragile bauble was gayer, more enchanting than the last. And now they were not only choosing, they were buying. What each one chose she would take home; she would see it on the Christmas tree; she would see it year after year, if she were lucky and it did not break.

They walked around and around the table, touching softly with mittened hands. Betsy at last chose a large red ball. Tacy chose an angel. Tib chose a rosy Santa Claus. Winona chose a silver trumpet. They yielded their dimes and the lady with the eye glasses wrapped up four packages. Betsy, Tacy, Tib, and Winona went out into the street. The afternoon was drawing to a pallid close. Soon the street lamps would be lighted.

They walked to Ray’s Shoe Store, smiling, holding Christmas in their hands. (Betsy and Tacy Go Downtown)

Betsy and Tacy went down town on their Christmas shopping expedition. This was a tradition with them. They went every year, visiting every store in town, and buying, at the end, one Christmas tree ornament. It was joyful, as always, to walk with locked arms along a snowy Front Street, gay with its decorations of evergreen and holly boughs, and the merry jingle of sleigh bells. (Heaven to Betsy)

[The tree] was a feathery hemlock and smelled deliciously when Betsy and Margaret visited it in the woodshed. On Christmas Eve it was brought indoors. It was set up in a corner of the dining room and a star was fixed on its crest. Strings of popcorn and cranberries were

In the morning he [Mr. Ray] shook down the furnace, and heat came up through the registers along with the smell of sausages and coffee. After he had kindled a fire in the grate and Anna had set breakfast on the table to be consumed at will, the gong summoned the rest of the family. Each one rushed to the chair which held his stocking.

Mrs. Ray was busy with Christmas shopping, and one night at supper she announced:

“I hope you haven’t bought my Christmas present, Bob, for today I saw just what I want.” “It’s expensive,” she warned. “You can all go in together to get it. You don’t need to buy me another thing. I’ll be perfectly contented with just this.”

“It’s in Dodd and Storer’s window. Just what I want for the front parlor window. A big brass bowl!” … “It’s perfectly stunning, Bob,” Mrs. Ray said. “I just have to have it. It looks just like me.” (Heaven to Betsy)

The Ray house by this time was almost bursting with Christmas. Holly wreaths were up in all the windows. Mr. Ray had brought home candy canes; Washington had a red and green bow on his collar. And everyone had been warned by everyone else not to look in this or that drawer, or this or that closet. (Heaven to Betsy)

There was the usual Christmas Eve ritual. They decorated the tree. Betsy put on the golden harp from this year’s shopping expedition with Tacy. She hung the red ball she had bought last year, the angel from the year before. The tree stood in the dining room, and its candlelight mingled with the soft light from the fire in the grate as Julia went out to the piano and they all sang, “O Little Town of Bethlehem,” “It Came Upon the Midnight Clear,” “Hark, the Herald Angels Sing,” and “Silent Night.” (Heaven to Betsy)

By firelight and Christmas-tree light the family sang the old familiar carols. Betsy read from Dicken’s A Christmas Carol, Margaret recited “Twas the night before Christmas,” and Julia, grave and reverent, read the story of Jesus’s birth out of the book of Luke. When this was over, they turned out the lights and filled one another’s stockings with smothered giggles which anticipated next morning’s fun. “Now you all stay in bed until the house is warm,” Mr. Ray always said. (Betsy Was a Junior)

A Lovelace Christmas

Written by Merian Lovelace Kirchner (daughter of Maud & Delos Lovelace) for the 1992 Betsy-Tacy Society newsletter.

I can tell you about our Lovelace family Christmas tree. It was always beautiful and I imagine some of the ornaments came from Minneapolis and before that, Mankato. They were mostly the classic blown glass kind, red and green and blue and white and silver and gold. Balls of all sizes, of course, and all kinds of other shapes and designs...Santa and bells and pinecones and houses and lanterns and musical instruments and birds, and, and, and!

When Bert and I got married, we started our own collection, all gold and silver and white, because that was what his family had in Germany and I wanted to keep the Kirchner traditions as well as Lovelace ones. Along the way, we acquired just two Lovelace ornaments, I can’t remember how. A little silver house with colored windows, and a beautiful red and blue bird with a horsehair tail. The bird is our tree top ornament, because we never found an angel or a star that seemed quite right for the top.

This year, I’ll add the silver ball that I brought home this summer from the convention in Mankato!

Betsy-Tacy people may be pleased to know that our Lovelace Christmases were very Hart/Rayish. We read about the Cratchits’ Christmas dinner, and the Night Before Christmas, and the birth of Jesus from the book of Luke, and Grandma Stella (who came to live with us when I was about four) played the piano for carols.

We had oyster stew for supper on Christmas Eve, and sausages for breakfast on Christmas morning, and turkey with all the trimmings for Christmas dinner, followed in the evening by turkey sandwiches with cold stuffing on them.

Just like the Rays on High Street, we split up for church after we opened our presents on Christmas morning – Baptist for Stella, Episcopal for Maud and Delos and Merian.

Our tree never went up until the 24th. When I was very small, Maud and Delos trimmed it after I went to bed and I didn’t see it until Christmas morning. But even after I was old enough to help, and knew for sure that there really was a tree waiting in the living room, coming downstairs in the morning was magic. The colored lights were reflected on the ceiling, mingled and softened to near pastel, and that pool of blue and green and rose was the first thing I saw.

In this Christmastide, I’m wishing with Tiny Tim: God bless us every one!
Special Message

Dear BTS Members:

As we did with the mortgages of Betsy's and Tacy's childhood homes, we are now asking the BTS membership and supporters for financial support to help pay for the street assessments for these houses. As a non-profit organization, the BTS does not pay property tax. We are, however, required to pay for street assessments. Over the past few years, Center Street and Lewis Street, which run on both sides of these houses, have been completely redone. Fuller Street, which runs behind Betsy's house, was completed this year. If you have recently been to the houses, you saw the beautiful new streets on all sides of our property. However, with such progress comes a price! The assessments billed to the BTS total $10,023.30. This cost will be increased by $1,750 in 2010 when the assessments for Fuller Street are added.

The assessments can be paid over a 10-year period with 6.5 percent interest. Payments are due every May 15 and October 15. The first payment of $826.67 was due on October 15, 2009. An e-mail was sent to the membership in September asking for help to raise the funds for the first payment, and the response from you was overwhelming. Thanks to everyone who answered our call for help nearly $4,000 was raised! Since we do not have the e-mail addresses for all BTS members, many of you are just now learning of this.

The BTS Board members have pledged to contribute to pay the street assessments. As the owners of these houses, we’re asking our membership to help meet this expense with a special contribution. We are confident that our membership will come through for us as we face these financial hurdles, just as you raised the funds to pay off the mortgage! If every BTS member made a contribution (no matter how large or small) to paying these assessments, we will put this huge expense behind us within a short time.

If you can help, please send a check to the Betsy-Tacy Society, P.O. Box 94, Mankato, MN 56002-0094. Write TAXES in the memo line of your check. As always, your contribution is tax deductible. Please know that whatever you can send is appreciated.

With gratitude,

The Betsy-Tacy Society Board

Paver Fundraiser
There is still time to get your name in stone or to give this as a gift in honor or memory of your loved ones. An order form can be downloaded from our website. This fundraiser will continue until the entire walkway by Betsy’s House is filled with engraved pavers! Blank pavers are replaced by engraved pavers as the orders come in. Proceeds benefit the Restoration Fund.

Cemetery Fund
A permanent flower urn was installed at the gravesite of Maud Hart Lovelace by the Betsy-Tacy Society this summer. Maud loved flowers, and it will be a tribute from all of her fans to be remembered with flowers each summer. Annual costs are $75 for planting and maintenance. We also have the option (for an additional fee) to have a wreath placed at the gravesite during the holidays.

To contribute to the Cemetery Fund, you can send a check to the Betsy-Tacy Society, P.O. Box 94, Mankato, MN 56002-0094. Or make a donation online through the BTS shop site using PayPal - just include a note designating your donation to the Cemetery Fund.

Fundraising for the Betsy-Tacy Society!
Olivia Anderson (age 12) of Stillwater and Julia Weidner (age 11) of Minnetonka organized a fundraiser for the Betsy-Tacy Society held outside the Stillwater Public Library in Stillwater, MN in August 2009. The girls sold lemonade and homemade lemon cake. Both girls enjoy reading these historical fiction books based on the author's childhood and became quite inspired after visiting the historic homes in Mankato. Thank you Olivia and Julia!

We are thankful for each and every one of our supporting members. We know it has been a difficult year for many of you. Your continuing show of support, confidence and assistance to the Betsy-Tacy Society is appreciated more than you can know. You make this possible!

Wishing you and those you hold dear a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

A Betsy-Tacy Milestone!

The Betsy-Tacy Society (est. 1990) purchased Tacy’s house (332 Center Street) for $39,000 in 1995. In 2001, just six years later, Betsy’s house (333 Center Street) was purchased for $60,000. Both houses have undergone extensive renovations, which continue as funds are raised.

The BTS has held a mortgage since 1995. Our “Burn the Mortgage” campaign began in February 2007 with $38,000 still owed on the mortgage. Thanks to our generous members and donors we have been able to pay off the mortgage just a little over two years later! We’re proud of this accomplishment and grateful to our members, donors and volunteers for their continued support. Thank you to everyone who has helped the BTS achieve this milestone!

On October 17, the Betsy-Tacy Society commemorated the retirement of the mortgage on Betsy’s house and the re-issue of The Black Angels with a celebration.

Burning the mortgage!
In Memoriam
Esther Hautzig

Esther Hautzig, whose memoir of growing up in exile in Siberia, The Endless Steppe, has become a classic of children’s literature, died November 1, 2009 at a New York City hospital. She was 79 and had Alzheimer’s disease and congestive heart failure.

Esther Rudomin was born October 18, 1930 in Vilnius, Lithuania, then part of Poland, where her family ran a jewelry store. In 1941, after the Soviet Union and Germany signed a nonaggression pact that put Vilnius under Soviet control, Hautzig’s family was arrested for being capitalists. At age 10 she was shipped with her parents and grandparents in a cattle car to the Siberian city of Rubtsovsk.

She spent all of World War II there, attending school and learning to live with privation and loss. More than 20 years later, after Hautzig had settled in the United States, she wrote The Endless Steppe. She wrote the book for children when publishers told her that her story would not appeal to adults. It won several awards and was acclaimed as a worthy successor to Anne Frank’s powerful memoir, The Diary of a Young Girl.

In 1954 Esther was hired by Elizabeth Riley as the director of children’s book promotion at Thomas Y. Crowell Co. She worked on the promotion for Betsy’s Wedding by Maud Hart Lovelace. Esther asked Paul Galdone’s sister-in-law, who was a sculptor, to create a Betsy bride doll. The nearly life-size doll was made of papier-mâché on a wire frame. Esther sewed the doll’s nylon organza skirt and the veil and offered the doll to libraries and bookstores for “appearances.” She wrote a biographical booklet about Maud Hart Lovelace and the Betsy-Tacy series that was also part of the publicity.

Children all over the country could now see Betsy “in person,” read about the creator, and learn the story behind all the stories in the Betsy-Tacy series. The doll stayed in each place for a few weeks, and every few months Betsy returned to Esther for freshening up, which involved Esther taking the skirt and veil home to wash by hand. The Betsy doll toured the country for a number of years and now resides at the Blue Earth County Historical Society in Mankato, Minnesota.

Esther’s second promotion for Betsy’s Wedding was a “bridal tea” to be held near the date of the book’s publication. Esther had formal invitations printed, hand-addressed each envelope, and mailed the invitations to reviewers and librarians. The tea was held at the Waldorf-Astoria. At 5 pm the guests began to arrive, including Robert L. Crowell, the president of the Thomas Y. Crowell Co., and many members of the board of directors, as well as all the movers and shakers in the New York children’s book community. Mr. and Mrs. Delos W. Lovelace attended. “Maud was dressed elegantly, her hair parted and waved in a manner that made her look like the Duchess of Windsor,” Esther remembered in an interview.

Esther continued to work in children’s book publishing until 1990. Survivors include her husband, Walter, two children and three grandchildren.

Leave a Legacy

We all leave our own unique mark on this world in our families, work and the organizations we believe in and support. We celebrate these legacies at the Betsy-Tacy Society – after all, this is the heart of the history we are passionately working to preserve every day.

A legacy gift, also known as a planned or estate gift, can help ensure the Betsy-Tacy Society has the resources to preserve and promote the legacy of Maud Hart Lovelace and her works for future generations. If you are also thinking about the future, please consider a legacy gift to help ensure the Betsy-Tacy Society has the resources to preserve these historic literary houses (childhood homes of Maud Hart Lovelace and Frances “Bick” Kenney) and the precious Lovelace artifacts and archives for many years to come.

The Betsy-Tacy Society is a member of LEAVE A LEGACY® Mankato Area, which is a collaborative effort to educate the public and promote the idea of giving through bequests and estate plans by increasing awareness of and interest in charitable-giving options.

To learn more about giving opportunities, contact Julie Schrader, executive director, at 507-345-9777. To learn more about LEAVE A LEGACY® Mankato Area, visit its website: www.leavealegacymankato.org.
